Millionaire mogul/rapper/actor 50 cent aka Curtis Jackson has filed for bankruptcy.

It wasn't all the trips to Jacobs or bottle popping that got 50 in financial trouble but a series of lawsuits. Jackson lost a lawsuit over a busted business deal but the straw that broke the camels back may have been the lawsuit filed by rapper Rick Ross' girlfriend claiming that the rapper violated her rights by releasing a sex tape of her having sex with Rick. 50 might be the first rapper to go broke for talking shit.

In bed with C-3PO and R2-D2 and a little cheek action for the lightsaber...I love it!

STORY OF THE MONTH

Billionaire extraordinaire Donald Trump is just plain old fucking it up for the already overcrowded GOP. His racist sound bytes and political rhetoric are so outrageous that some folks are actually beginning to think he might be a democrat.

What's so sick and sad is that as of this writing he is currently leading in the polls proving that there's still a lot of hate and separation in this country.

Q & A

Top Floor Magazine answers the questions submitted to the Playboy Advisor

I asked my husband to tell me his sexual fantasies, and he claimed that he didn't have any. When I persisted, he said pleasing me is his fantasy. Is he saying that to stop me from asking or because he's afraid to share? Can a man actually not have any fantasies? - S.M., Denver, Colorado

Contrary to popular belief men are animal that sit around imagining where, when and how we are going to have sex with multiple partners. Yes, it's true that men think about sex more than women but those thoughts are usually very specific. If we see an attractive female we may imagine what it would be like to have sex with her but most of our thoughts don't involve bondage, chickens, multiple partners or any other crazy thing you can come up with. With men we can only attach ourselves to a "fantasy" that's realistic. Be happy that your guy is fantasy free because it's real and in the moment anything else would be an imitation of something he has seen or heard.

My wife and I are friends with a couple who are swingers. One night while drinking and playing cards we all engaged in masturbation and oral stimulation. As we played, my wife pushed my hand or head away several times to clear a path for others. Should I be concerned that she doesn't find me attractive or satisfying? - J.B., Allentown, Pennsylvania

Hmm, I don't live that lifestyle so maybe I'm a bit confused. So, when you are "swinging" with your wife then the "objective" is to monopolize your wife's private parts...is that correct? Because my understanding was that the objective was to enjoy different partners. I may be confused. WTF! Of course your wife still finds you attractive and stimulating...she married you! Let your wife actually enjoy the lifestyle you've chosen...get out of the way!!!

How to crease dress pants

You have an important even and you want to look sharp but can't afford to take your slacks to the dry cleaners - here's how to do it yourself.

What you need:

- Ironing board
- Iron
- Distilled or purified water
- Spray bottle (unnecessary if the iron has a built-in spray nozzle)
- Clean trousers

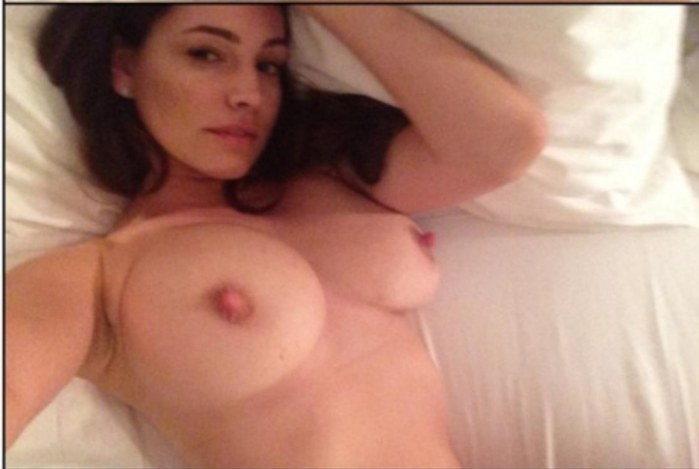

1. Iron the Linings of the Pockets
2. Iron the Waistband and Top Part of the Trouser
3. Mark the Trouser Crease
4. Press the Front Crease
5. Press the Back Crease
6. Press down the leg of the pant
7. Repeat for the other leg

Important

Double check the iron temperature - the wrong temp could mean iron marks on your pants

Let the iron heat up to the temperature setting

Allow plenty of time to do this right, it's not something you can rush if you expect great results.

THE FANTASTIC FOUR

AUGUST 7TH

Fantastic Four, a contemporary re-imagining of Marvel's original and longest-running superhero team, centers on four young outsiders who teleport to an alternate and dangerous universe, which alters their physical form in shocking ways. Their lives irrevocably up-ended, the team must learn to harness their daunting new abilities and work together to save Earth from a former friend turned enemy.

IN THEATRES NOW

Trainwreck

Since she was a little girl, it's been drilled into Amy's (Amy Poehler) head by her rascal of a dad (Colin Hanks) that monogamy isn't realistic. Having thought that monogamy was never possible, a commitment-phobic career woman may have to face her fears when she meets a good guy.

Joe Dirt 2: Beautiful Loser

In the sequel to Joe Dirt, David Spade returns as our favorite mulleted hero.

After he's transported back in time, Dirt must fight to get back to the present and to his family.

The Vatican Tapes

Follows the haunting tale of 27 year-old Angela Holmes, who accidentally cuts her finger. Infection leads to erratic behavior, and she begins to have a devastating effect on anyone close. When the Vatican is called upon to exorcise the demon, the possession proves to be an ancient satanic force more powerful than they imagined.

Stonehearst Asylum

Loosely based on the short story "The System of Doctor Tarr and Professor Fether" by Edgar Allan Poe.

A new employee at a mental hospital becomes attracted to one of his colleagues, but he is unaware of a recent, horrifying change in staff.

There were so many things to enjoy about this film.

I was surprised that Roger Ebert gave it 2 1/2 stars or whatever. The was definitely a four star film.

I don't want to give too much away and the plot is pretty obvious within the first 40 minutes so I'll just leave it to you to decide.

Available On Netflix

American Sniper

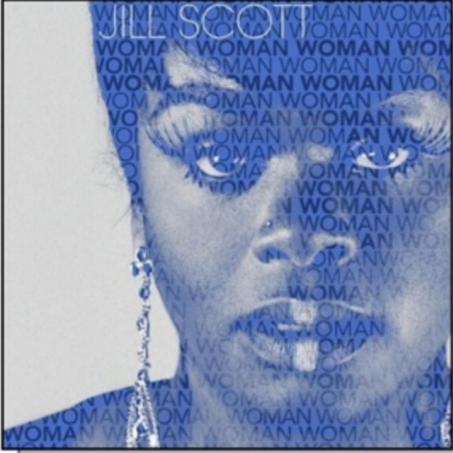

There amount of controversy surrounding this film was unwarranted. It's a great story, it doesn't sensationalize violence - it doesn't come close to showing Kyle's 255 kills. Just a good old fashioned war flick.

Hot Girls Wanted

A film about young girls who answer ads to become porn stars. It's informative in that it shows how easy it is to make a living off these naïve young girls but beyond that it just doesn't go deep enough. I'm almost certain HOW TO was not the purpose...Skip it!

Album of the Month

Woman took me everywhere I wanted to be. The beats are fantastic and the lyrics are thought provoking. Scott take us to church on the track Run Run Run, paying homage to 60's soul. The first track Wild Cookie is another great example of Jill Scott's ability to deliver a message without getting the feeling that you're being preached to. It might be hard for the average listener to pick up on but there are a few tracks where she copies some of the lyrical stylistics of today's pop artist but with a soul twist. She shuts the MF'er down on the track You Don't Know - Great CD

WorldMags.net

Donald Trump began his bid for the White House by saying claiming when Mexico sends people to this country, they aren't sending their best.

According, they are sending their drug dealers and rapist...hmmm.

Then he released an 881 word statement with additional details...

"The worst elements in Mexico are being pushed into the United States by the Mexican government."

"The largest suppliers of heroin, cocaine and other illicit drugs are Mexican cartels that arrange to have Mexican immigrants trying to cross the borders and smuggle in the drugs. The Border Patrol knows this," Trump wrote. "Likewise, tremendous infectious disease is pouring across the border. The United States has become a dumping ground for Mexico and, in fact, for many other parts of the world."

The aftermath was after he made "you're fired," famous on the NBC show The Intern, he was fired, Univision dumped him, he can't do business in NYC - at least not as long as Bill de Blasio is Mayor.

Other Trump dumpers include:

- The Ms. Universe Pageant
- The Ms. USA Pageant
- Televisora de Costa Rico
- Macy's
- The entire country of Mexico lead by Miss Universe winner Lupita Jones
- Mexico's richest man, billionaire Carlos Slim

The list goes on and on.

Yet, Trumps outrageous statements seem to be resonating with GOP voters because Trump is leading in the polls for the republican nomination.

Why?

There are so many reasons that I have to bullet point them!

- 1 in 3 Americans believe that most Hispanics/ Mexicans are undocumented.

The truth is that about 37% of the 54 million Hispanics are undocumented.

What was so incredible was while Americans think most Hispanics are here illegally 90% think Latinos are family oriented, 81% believe that they are hard working, 81% also believe that Latinos are religious and 76% believe Latinos are honest.

At the same time, 1 in 2 (51%) of Americans believe that Latinos are on welfare, 50% believe that they are less educated and 44% believe that they refuse to learn English.

Welcome to the world of racism.

Americans are constantly bombarded with negative images of Hispanics and an unending rhetoric of "All the Mexicans are taking our jobs."

Scary right?

They are taking all of our jobs?

Let's ask Alabama about that.

On June 9, 2011, Alabama passed Alabama HB 56, one of the strictest immigration laws in the country. The Alabama law requires that if police have "reasonable suspicion" that a person is an immigrant unlawfully present in the United States, in the midst of any legal stop, detention or arrest, to make a similarly reasonable attempt to determine that person's legal status.

It prohibits illegal immigrants from receiving any public benefits at either the state or local level. It bars illegal immigrants from attending publicly owned colleges or universities. At the high, middle, and elementary public school levels, the law requires that school officials ascertain whether students are illegal immigrants. Attendance is not prohibited for such students; school districts are mandated to submit annual tallies on the suspected number of illegal immigrants when making report to state education officials.

It prohibits landlords from renting property to illegal immigrants. It forbids employers from knowingly hiring illegal immigrants for any job within Alabama. Moreover, it considers as a discriminatory practice any action to refuse to employ or remove a legal resident of the state when an illegal one is already employed.

Alabama effectively removed ALL the illegal immigrants from the state of Alabama and also a few of the Latino citizens who just didn't want to put up with the harassment.

The result was several Alabama school districts reported a significant drop in the number of Hispanic children attending public schools.

Farmers have found that Americans are not willing to work under such harsh working conditions for low pay. A number of businesses in other industries have lost workers, including legal workers, as a result of the law.

Latino women have been particularly negatively impacted by HB 56, making it even more difficult for them to report domestic abuse or seek refuge in the court system when being victimized.

Recently, a victim of domestic violence went to the courthouse seeking a protection from abuse order so that she could distance herself from her abuser. The clerk informed her that if she proceeded with the case she would be reported to Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE).

Another example of how HB 56 is deterring women from reporting crimes or seeking help is an Alabama judge who "said he might have to report to ICE any person who asks for an interpreter because such a request would be a red flag".

HB 56 was touted as a jobs bill. The thought was if they got rid of the immigrants then Americans would gain jobs.

Well, Alabama lost...

- $130 million in tax income

- Farmer Chad Smith of Smith Farms estimated that he lost $300,000 due to labor shortages and Brian Cash of K&B Farms estimates he's losing $100,000 a month.
- 2,285 students packed up and moved out of the school districts.
- Another 5,000 Hispanic students just stopped going because they were too afraid to go.

Back to Trump - Alabama is the shining example to "trump" this billionaires allegations that Mexicans aren't sending their best.

So that's Debunked!

There have been so many outrageous statements and actions during the short time that the Donald has been running for the GOP nomination that it's impossible to address them all.

- "I will build a great wall, and no body builds walls better than me and I would build it very inexpensively and I will have Mexico pay for it, mark my words."
- Following the shooting in a church in Charleston, South Carolina, where a young white supremacist is suspected of killing nine African Americans, Mr Trump said that African-American youth had reached "a point where they've just about never done more poorly, there's no spirit, there's killings on an hourly basis virtually in places like Baltimore and Chicago and many other places.
- Donald Trump wants to "bomb the hell" out of Iraq's oil fields in order to strike at ISIS. "If I win, I would attack those oil sites that are controlled and owned -- they are controlled by ISIS," Trump said. "I wouldn't send many troops because you won't need 'em by the time I got finished."
- Trump mentioned China two-dozen times in the opener to his 2016 presidential bid, accusing that country and Mexico of putting Americans out of work. "They can't get jobs, because there are no

- (cont.) jobs, because China has our jobs and Mexico has our jobs," Trump said.
- During his 45-minute Presidential announcement speech, Trump took a not-so-subtle dig at his archrival, President Barack Obama, and what better way to do that than with a bad sports metaphor. "People say, 'Oh, you don't like China.' No, I love them," Trump boasted during his speech. "But their leaders are much smarter than our leaders, and we can't sustain ourself with that. There's too much—it's like...it's like, take the New England Patriots and Tom Brady and have them play your high school football team. That's the difference between China's leaders and our leaders."

There are so many but as I went from website to website to research this article it actually temporarily crashed my computer and for the sake of finishing this issue I think we will stop here.

The latest polls have Trump leading in the GOP polls at 24%, which almost doubles second place Scott Walker.

Which brings about three questions.

1. Why is this working?
2. How long will it last?
3. Can Donald Trump actually win the republican nomination?

I thought that the obvious answer to the first question was that Trump was appealing to the racist faction of our country that for whatever reason believe that the U.S., despite the fact that we are a nation OF immigrants, would be better off if we would just deport those who have a little pigment and speak Spanish.

Even Rush Limbaugh claimed that Trump is doing something that Mitt Romney failed to do.

Instead of trying to appeal to the rising number of Hispanic voters, how about we try to get a hold on that percentage of white voters that Romney missed.

I think it's a whole lot deeper than that.

Yes, he is losing the Hispanic vote but in a general election, Trump certainly isn't going to gain many white voters with divisive rhetoric.

What he is doing is staying in the news cycle. Trump has managed to place himself among the top two news stories on every network every single day since he announced his candidacy.

He's using what I like to refer to as the "shock jock" method. The original shock jock Howard Stern must be proud.

When people were asked why they listened to Howard, the simple answer was because they wanted to hear what he was going to say next. It wasn't because he was quoting a philosopher but because he was outrageous. It's something that all the major celebs use to stay relevant.

This is something that Donald can use to his advantage for as long as he's able to come up with new material without crossing the line.

As long as Donald doesn't refer to a female basketball team as a bunch of nappy headed hoes ala Don Imus he can make this run for the nomination last for as long as he wants.

If he keeps to attack the other candidates with "shock jock" political rhetoric then he will clear out the GOP field quick, fast and in a hurry.

There isn't a candidate in the bunch that can touch him!

Not because he's incredibly qualified or intelligent but because they are too afraid to challenge him.

The political machine called Fox News that celebrates misinformation aka political ignorance, has managed to create a political environment where any attempt to challenge Trump on the issue with just a smidge of intelligence will be met by the under informed voters as uppity and frowned upon.

Oh how they will reap what they have sown.

If any of the candidates try to explain why it would be impossible to have Mexico pay for a wall to separate the United States from Mexico, all Trump will have to say is "Fucking idiot, you're fired."

Crowd goes wild, top story on all media networks for a week and Fox News viewers scream "America", as they jerk off to Hannity while Lee Greenwood's God Bless the USA plays in the background.

Now...

What's really sad about the Trump campaign is this really is our first example of what would happen if MONEY is removed from politics.

Trump said it himself (I can't quote because my computer might shut down again), he isn't worried about donors or campaign contributions because he's funding his campaign himself.

Ahh, now THAT'S refreshing!

Trump can say whatever the hell he wants to say because he doesn't have to fill our minds with what the Koch brothers want or what Goldman Sachs wants.

That part, I have to admit...I'm enjoying it.

Albeit for all the wrong reasons.

It's nice to see what the propaganda network Fox News, the tea party and conservative radio has created. A very ugly monster that is hell bent on self destruction. I sleep better at night knowing for fact that there's no chance in hell that the Fox driven GOP will EVER hold the White House again.

Also, it's really nice to hear a political candidate speak bullshit in Trump's dialect. Wow, I really like you're accent, where are you from?

Is Hilary still running?

What disturbs me, is the pace in which we are moving toward becoming an Idiocracy. Where, eat shit and die will become the new rallying call for politicians and ignorance becomes the number one qualification for holding high office.

Reaching the end of a job interview, the Human Resources Officer asks a young engineer fresh out of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, "And what starting salary are you looking for?" The engineer replies, "In the region of $125,000 a year, depending on the benefits package." The interviewer inquires, "Well, what would you say to a package of five weeks vacation, 14 paid holidays, full medical and dental, company matching retirement fund to 50% of salary, and a company car leased every two years, say, a red Corvette?" The engineer sits up straight and says, "Wow! Are you kidding?" The interviewer replies, "Yeah, but you started it."

Two factory workers are talking. The woman says, "I can make the boss give me the day off." The man replies, "And how would you do that?" The woman says, "Just wait and see." She then hangs upside down from the ceiling. The boss comes in and says, "What are you doing?" The woman replies, "I'm a light bulb." The boss then says, "You've been working so much that you've gone crazy. I think you need to take the day off."

The man starts to follow her and the boss says, "Where are you going?" The man says, "I'm going home, too. I can't work in the dark."

A teacher is teaching a class and she sees that Johnny isn't paying attention, so she asks him, "If there are three ducks sitting on a fence, and you shoot one, how many are left?" Johnny says, "None." The teacher asks, "Why?" Johnny says, "Because the shot scared them all off." The teacher says, "No, two, but I like how you're thinking." Johnny asks the teacher, "If you see three women walking out of an ice cream parlor, one is licking her ice cream, one is sucking her ice cream, and one is biting her ice cream, which one is married?" The teacher says, "The one sucking her ice cream." Johnny says, "No, the one with the wedding ring, but I like how you're thinking!"

Teacher: "Kids, what does the chicken give you?"

Student: "Meat!"

Teacher: "Very good! Now what does the pig give you?"

Student: "Bacon!"

Teacher: "Great! And what does the fat cow give you?"

Student: "Homework!"

Q: What did the duck say when he bought lipstick?

A: "Put it on my bill."

Fun Sex Facts & Figures

- For men under the age of 40, their average time to erection is a mere ten seconds. For some it is shorter, and if it is much longer than ten seconds, it may be an indication of erectile dysfunction.
- The initial spurt of a man's ejaculation travels at approximately 28 miles per hour, even faster than the 100 meters dash world record, which is currently 22.9 miles per hour.
- Women have the ability to make their voice sound "sexier" in order to entice their men when needed. Men, however, do not possess such an ability and simply have to rely on other factors.
- Approximately 60% of men who get aroused have erect nipples. In fact, the nipples are just as sensitive in men as they are in women, which is why so many men get erect nipples.
- For a woman attempting to reach climax, it will take her only four minutes through masturbation. However, it can take upwards of 10-20 minutes to reach climax during intercourse.

Did you hear about the guy whose whole left side was cut off? He's all right now.

Did you hear about Monica Lewinsky becoming a Republican? The Democrats left a bad taste in her mouth.

One day three women went for a job interview. The man interviewing them posed all three the same question. What would you do if you found an extra $50 in on your paycheck that you shouldn't have received? The first one said, "I'd give it back as it wasn't mine and I wasn't entitled to it." When he asked the second one she replied, "I'd give it to Charity." When he asked the third one, she was more honest and she said, "I'd keep it for myself and go out for a drink." Which one of the three women got the job? The one with the biggest tits!

Q: What do you call the space between Kim Kardashian's breasts and butt cheeks?

A: Silicon Valley.

Two students were arguing when their teacher entered the classroom. The teacher says, "Why are you arguing?" One boy answers, "We found a ten dollar bill and decided to give it to whoever tells the biggest lie." "You should be ashamed of yourselves," said the teacher, "When I was your age I didn't even know what a lie was." The boys gave the ten dollars to the teacher.

Two men were talking. "So, how's your sex life?" "Oh, nothing special. I'm having Social Security sex."

"Social Security sex?"

"Yeah, you know, I get a little each month, but not enough to live on."

New Jersey Governor Chris Christie has said that he may run for President, but analysts predict it is much more likely that he will walk.

A recent worldwide survey showed that out of 2,146,703,436 people, 94% were too lazy to actually read that number.

One day a man and woman were in their bedroom making love. All of a sudden a bumble bee entered the bedroom window. As the lady parted her legs, the bee entered her vagina. The woman started screaming, "Oh my god, help me, there's a bee in my vagina!" The husband immediately took her to the local doctor and explained the situation. The doctor thought for a moment and said "Hmm, tricky situation. But I have a solution to the problem if young sir would permit." The husband being very concerned agreed that the doctor could use whatever method to get the bee out of his wife's vagina. The doctor said "Okay, what I'm going to do is rub some honey over the tip of my penis and insert it into your wife's vagina. When I feel the bee getting closer to the tip of my penis, I shall withdraw it and the bee should hopefully follow my penis out of your wife's vagina. The husband nodded and gave his approval. The lady said, "Yes, whatever, just get on with it." So the doctor, after covering the tip of his penis with honey, entered the woman. After a few gentle strokes, the doctor said, "I don't think the bee has noticed the honey yet. Perhaps I should try further." The lady began to quiver with excitement, moaning aloud. The doctor, concentrating very hard, looked like he was enjoying himself. The husband became very annoyed and shouted, "Now wait a minute! What the hell do you think you're doing?" The doctor, still concentrating, replied, "Change of plan. I'm gonna drown the bastard!"

A farmer buys a young rooster. As soon as he brings the bird to the farm, it rushes & fucks all 150 hens. The farmer is impressed thinking about all the eggs the hens would hatch. At lunch, the rooster again screws all 150 hens. The farmer gets a bit worried now. The next day, he finds the rooster fucking the ducks, geese, & a parrot too which is now scaring him. Later that day, he finds the rooster lying pale, half-dead with vultures circling over its head. The farmer says, "You horny bastard, you deserve this." The rooster opens one eye, points up, & whispers, "Shh! Don't shout, let them land!"

Cursum Perficio

I usually don't review websites because most aren't particularly outstanding, and thousands appear and disappear in the blink of an eye. By the time I've reviewed 'em, they're gone! However, I recently discovered a 100% review-worthy site called "Cursum Perficio", online since 2008. In Latin, the title translates to: "My Journey Ends Here". If you're a fan of iconic sex symbol Marilyn Monroe, this is a site that deserves your attention! Yeah, we all know there's tons of MM sites out there, but this one far exceeds others I've seen due to the astounding amount and depth of content: hard-to-find, unique facts, fascinating research and of course course hundreds of dazzling photos of Marilyn!

The webmaster of Cursum Perficio obviously spent years assembling this beautiful site, and it really shows. For serious fans who want more than a quickie overview of her life, you'll find it all here, intricately pulled together from a wide variety of diverse sources.

But first, you need to know precisely why the site is tantalizingly titled "Cursum Perficio". In January, 1962 (the last year of Marilyn's life), she finally found her dream home located at 12305 Fifth Helena Drive in Brentwood, CA. She purchased the home for $57,500 (a lot of money in 1962 prices!) At the entrance to the front door, Marilyn was entranced by a blue inlaid tile bearing the words Cursum Perficio. She felt this was a good omen, that it would be the safe haven she'd been longing for all her life - the end of a journey that had been filled with so many incredible highs and lows. She could hardly wait to start decorating the quaint, Spanish-style home to her personal tastes.

Here's the original tile. Cool, huh?

And here's a screenshot from the site showing fabulous interior photos of Marilyn's home. I'm a hardcore Hollywood house fanatic, I can't get enough of seeing the interiors of classic, vintage homes, so this was one of my favorite areas of the site. You can click on any photo and view in full screen mode. You really get an eerily intimate sense of what her "final journey" home would have been, could have been, should have been.

Sadly, by August, 1962, Marilyn was no longer among the living. Her earthly journey indeed ended here, the entryway tile now symbolizing a strange foreboding of things to come. The original tile still exists today at the home (proudly owned by new tenants).

Happily, the site doesn't dwell on "the end". It traces the full sweep of her amazing life's journey from 1926 through 1962, the people, places, events, dates, and important happenings documented in detail. The site is wonderfully easy to navigate. It's also not cluttered by a bunch of ads or other junk. Just pure fandom! I never felt confused or frustrated hanging out here and spent many enjoyable hours following one link to another, captivated by more and more awesome stuff! I'm a movie buff and am familiar with a lot about Monroe's life and times, but there's a huge amount of info here that I didn't know, and best of all, a treasure trove of photos I'd never seen before.

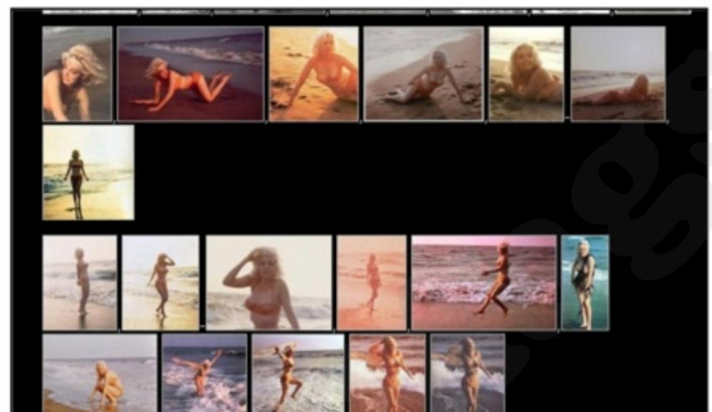

You can browse using the "Biography" link which is arranged by year, or the "Files" link which is alphabetical A-Z. . For instance, if you want to know about key events in Marilyn's life from a random year such as 1932, click on that year and you'll be treated to rare photos and fascinating information about 7 year-old Marilyn at elementary school. If you want to know details about her marriage to Joe DiMaggio, click on "D" at the Files link and it'll pull up DiMaggio info. Other files such as "Doctors", "Doheny Drive", "Designers", and "Death" and "Death Theories" are there, too. But again, death isn't the focus of the site, just another part of what it meant to be Marilyn.

For me, the most exciting aspect of the site are the hundreds of photos the webmaster has showcased, especially from several of the last photoshoots she did.

Here's a small sample of what you'll see – pics from the famous Bert Stern photoshoot sessions taken in June, 1962, a mere six weeks before her death. . This set is from the "Black Dotted Scarf" sitting. As with most of the photos, you can click on any individual photo for a full size, detailed view of Marilyn in all her luscious glory. . .

Below is another screenshot showing a small sampling of the photos from Marilyn's final photoshoot in July 1962 taken by photographer George Barris:

Great stuff! Marilyn was really looking good and in my opinion, just beginning to come into her own as a woman, trying out different styles, attitudes and fashions. She probably knew times were changing, a new decade was beginning, and judging from many of these pics, she would have made the transition from 1950's pin-up to being a 1960's hottie, fully in tune with the new era. And just look at how fresh and natural she is!

All of these photos have been previously published in various venues (the Stern photos were published in 1982 in a 450- page book entitled “The Last Sitting”), but most of us don’t have the time or resources to hunt down these photos or books. Many people aren’t even aware that these photos exist, so it’s fantastic to access the material in one central location. Seriously, this site has more photos of Marilyn Monroe per square inch than any site I’ve ever seen, many of them candid or behind the scenes. Believe me, you’ll spend hours browsing, looking, reading, and loving it!

I also really appreciated that the site isn’t presented like a detective novel trying to solve the mystery of Marilyn’s final days. It was refreshing not to deal with yet another tiresome conspiracy theory MM site. So many sites try to play detective or reach conclusions or judgments about her last days. The webmaster here seems to truly understand that fans want a lot more than that. The overall tone is straightforward, unpretentious and always interesting. Most of the facts are accompanied by photos so you can clearly visualize and understand the circumstances. You’ll also find in-depth information about people who were important in her life, including biographical entries of photographers, artists, writers, and many others who were part of her circle. .

Click on the “Books” link and you’re taken to a well-documented list of all the books utilized as sources for the site. . “Links” takes you to a great listing of other Marilyn sites, many of which appear to be unique and definitely worth checking out if you’ve been looking for different sources of information or photos. The “Comments” link is filled with enthusiastic remarks from visitors who absolutely adore this site. Here’s a typical comment:

“As the historian for 20th Century-Fox, I greatly commend you for putting together one of the best fan sites I have ever seen in my thirty-seven years in HOLLYWOOD! “

Hey, if it’s good enough for the historian at 20th’ Century Fox, it’s good enough for me!

Is this the final photo of Marilyn Monroe taken by Bert Stern in 1962? To find out, you’ll have to go to the site and find out! And remember: her journey doesn’t end here. it’s Marilyn Forever!

Jack Watson's Complete Guide To Creating

Black and White
Female
Glamour
Images From Nudes To Fashion

By Jack Watson

Award-winning photographer Jack Watson has crafted a unique book dedicated to female glamour images created in black and white to honor the famous Hollywood stills photographers of the 1920's and 30's. With the help of a large collection of stunning glamour models who have been featured globally in many print, web, and video media including Playboy Enterprises™, Watson shows you how he creates sensuous, seductive glamour black and white images out of virtually any color glamour photograph. Dispelling the myth that not all color images make good black and white images, this book illustrates how virtually any glamour photo can be used to create the look of the Hollywood masters.

Jack Watson's Complete Guide to Creating Black and White Female Glamour Images includes a CD with every photo in the book. All of the black and white photos started out as color digital files. They have been provided in their original color form for your unrestricted non-commercial use. This book is for those who have some basic Photoshop skills and want to broaden their horizons and experiment with additional plug-ins and software such as Nik Color Efex Pro Complete, Nik Silver Efex Pro, Topaz Adjust, and Topaz BW Effects. It's also for anyone who just loves looking at beautiful black and white female glamour images.

While most of the images in the book are "sexy" in nature, a number of examples show how sexy is not always the naked truth, but quite the contrary. Clothed or nude, the female form is a thing of beauty. At the very least, this book will make you rethink what is truly glamorous. Creating black and white glamour photos will help you see with your brain and feel with your heart. Remember it's not what you see in a photograph that moves you; it's what you don't see. So, boot up your computer, open your favorite photo software, and put the CD in the drive, and create some magic.
